

Susan S. Bell, Ph.D., Professor, Integrative Biology, University of South Florida. Dr. Bell's research interests include examining the landscape ecology of seagrass beds and investigating the links between seagrass change and faunal responses to such changes. Her research also includes the restoration of seagrass habitats with a special emphasis on evaluation of functional equivalency of created seagrass beds.